

The Bielefeld Graduate School in History and Sociology (BGHS) fosters PhD researchers' individual career planning and awards, starting January 2022

up to five places in the mentoring programme “Non-university careers for humanists and social scientists“ for the duration of nine months.

Description: The BGHS mentoring “Non-University Careers for Humanists and Social Scientists” is aimed at doctoral researchers in all humanities and social sciences at Bielefeld University. As part of the mentoring programme, the participants exchange ideas about their career plans as humanists and social scientists with their own mentors from non-university organizations (“mentoring tandem”), among the participants (“peer mentoring”), and as part of an accompanying programme organized by the BGHS. The common languages in the mentoring programme are German and English.

Requirements: Mentees take part in the mentoring tandem, the peer mentoring and the accompanying programme for BGHS mentoring.

Our offer: The programme runs from January 2022 to September 2022. The mentee and mentor hold a monthly discussion on career planning over a period of six months. Mentees exchange questions and ideas about professional careers over a period of nine months. The mentoring is flanked by a series of workshops on non-university careers. A schedule and an application form for mentoring can be found on the BGHS website: <https://www.uni-bielefeld.de/einrichtungen/bghs/aktivitaeten-projekte/karriere/mentoring/>

Applicants please send an application form to bghs@uni-bielefeld.de by November 30. Applications from suitable severely disabled persons and persons with disabilities of equal status are expressly welcome.
